

26.2 Art Project

GREAT RUN BIRMINGHAM
INTERNATIONAL MARATHON

Blood Vessel Damage

When running the continuous pummeling of tiny blood vessels in the feet results in a drop in levels of the red blood cells. The oxygen carrying blood cells can drop by as much as 20 grams per litre of blood.

Paul Owen

